What is Terumah? At Temple Emanuel, Terumah (pronounced true-mah) is the term we use for members' financial support. We believe that your support of Temple Emanuel serves a higher purpose than merely keeping the lights on. Part of our mission is to foster "a sense of extended family through a warm and supportive atmosphere." The giving of Terumah is an important way of supporting each other and sustaining the Temple family. The standard Terumah for a family is $1,500, $750 for an individual with no dependent children, $180 for young adults under the age of thirty (family or individual), and $36 for college students. A portion of your Terumah pledge goes to support the Union for Reform Judaism.

What if I cannot afford to pay the standard Terumah? Temple Emanuel has a policy that no one will be turned away due to financial hardship. If you cannot pay the standard Terumah for a family or individual, you may request financial assistance on an annual basis.

What is the Honor Society? Temple Emanuel is extremely fortunate that many of our members are able to pay significantly more than the standard Terumah. This allows us to provide the superior staff and programming in which we pride ourselves. The Honor Society ensures that all members of the Jewish community are able to participate in Temple Emanuel regardless of their ability to pay and that the Temple has the financial resources to meet the needs of its congregants.
